Part III DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-20 are pending.

Restriction/Election

2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

Group I. Claims 1-6, drawn to a polynucleotide, a host cell and vector with said polynucleotide, classified in class 536, subclass 23.6.

Group II. Claims 7-10, drawn to a method of detection using said polynucleotides, classified in class 435, subclass 6.

Group III. Claims 11-12, drawn to a screening assay using combinatorial cDNA, classified in class 435, subclass 6.

Group IV. Claims 13-14, drawn to a polypeptide. Classified in class 530 subclass 350.

Group V. Claims 15-16, drawn to a screening assay with combinatorial polypeptide, classified in class 435 subclass 4.

Group VI. Claim 17, drawn to a method of making an antibody, classified in class 424 subclass 184.1.

Group VII. Claim 18, drawn to an antibody, classified in class 530, subclass 387.1.

Group VIII. Claims 19-20, drawn to a method of detecting using an antibody, classified in class 435 subclass 7.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

3. Groups VI and VIII are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the product, the antibody can be made by recombinant DNA.

Groups I, IV and VII and are unique products. They differ with respect to their physicochemical properties and are therefore patentably distinct.

Groups II and III, V, VIII are unique methods. They differ with respect to ingredients and method steps.

Groups I and II-III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (M.P.E.P. 806.05(h)). In the present case, the product as claimed, the polynucleotide can be used in either the detection assay or in the screening assay.

Groups VII and VIII are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (M.P.E.P. 806.05(h)). In the present case, the product as claimed, the antibody can be used in immunopurification.

Groups IV and V are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (M.P.E.P. 806.05(h)). In the present case, the product as claimed, the polypeptide can be used in an immunization method.

4. Because a search of these eight distinct inventions would not be co-extensive with a search of the others, an examination and search of two or more inventions in a single application would constitute a serious undue burden on the examiner.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor or at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of the inventorship must be accompanied by a diligently-filed petition under 37 CFR 1.48 (b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17 (h).

7. Applicant is advised that the response to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed.
